

Continuous Learning

and Growth in a Nutshell

The Dandy People Online Trainings are designed to cover the full spectrum from mindset, values and principles to tools and practices, giving your people the understanding of why and how, and the tools to start being agile.

DANDY PEOPLE

Micro-Learning

The content can be used on mobile platforms as well as laptops, making it accessible at all times in smaller micro-learning snippets, collections of content or guided curriculum. Videos between 1-5 minutes, articles and guides are all easy to digest and at the same time offering food for thought.

Asynchron Courses

The curriculum forming the courses can preferably be offered to everyone in the organization. Without a start or stop date the content can be used and shared over and over again by everyone.

Self-check on learnings after each component.

Agile Coaches Toolbox

In the end this content is the Agile Coaches toolbox. These are some of Dandy Peoples best tools that we use in our daily work, crafted to support growth, collaboration, innovation and change. You can use them too, and by leading people through these tools in their learning journey they know where to find them, and how to use them.

Using the content also as a toolbox across the organization gives people superpowers, and it scales the Agile coaching function.

Evergreen Training

Sometimes it might be good to set a start date and drip new content every week. This is good when you want people to take a training and learn together, or when you want to do facilitated events or use them as blended learning.

Blended Learning & Train the Trainer

With this content we can train people to become Agile coaches and trainers and use it for blended learning. Growing your internal Agile coaching competence is part of becoming an Agile organization.

Facilitate discussions, group exercises and connect to context.

Train the Trainer

The Organizational Agile Program

The Organizational Agile Program gives everyone in the organization access to the online Agile Trainings from Dandy People. All to enable organizational Agility and change across the organization. We gladly help you facilitate the learning journey remotely or on-site to support your success.

Add your own Content

Contextualize our content with your podcasts, an introduction video with your CEO, videos from the teams, or give your people space to add their own favourite canvases building on the toolbox and facilitate discussions across the organization in connection to the learning content.

Learning Buddies

This is a structured way to enable collaboration and learnings across the organization. By connecting people in triads and building clusters of buddies and facilitators across the organization you create a safe environment and enable people to start to using their learnings and enable business Agility.

A Buddy System is a great way to create a dynamic and flexible structure across the organization that can be used for learning, problem-solving, change and implementation.

Please visit dandypeople.com/training/ to read more about the online trainings and request access.

Infographic Poster by:
mia.kolmodin@dandypeople.com
Free download:
dandypeople.com/posters